

TESTAMENTARY BEQUEST

HOW TO WRITE A WILL

Helping us is very simple: all you have to do is write in your own hand a few lines stating your desire to name our Foundation as the sole heir to your fortune, to a specific sum of money or even to a specific number of movable or immovable assets. The written document must be dated, signed and left in the hands of a trustworthy person or, even better, in the hands of your notary. This only takes a few minutes. With a simple gesture you may choose to make a significant contribution to the Foundation.

Every contribution represents a fundamental step in helping to achieve certain objectives such as financing scholarships or the scientific research necessary for curing infectious diseases.

EVERYONE CAN HELP OUR RESEARCH THROUGH THEIR WILL

The written will is the instrument that grants the transfer of one's assets and valuables. The law guarantees the right of the successors by keeping intact their rightful share of the inheritance. The law also states that a certain part of the inheritance can be freely attributed to a third party.
